

Moroni's Quest Journal

For this journey that you will embark on, you will need to start a journal. This journal will be through the gospel library app or church's website! This will allow you to keep it safe and secure without the worry of it being lost like a physical one. To make this journal, you will need a church account (or access to one) which is easy enough to make. You might need to talk to your bishop or one of his counselors for help getting all the information to make one.a

Once you have an account, head over to churchofjesuschrist.org and log in. After logging in head over to the scripture library in the top left corner (as pictured here)

The screenshot shows the official website for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. At the top, there is a dark header with the church's name in white. Below the header is a navigation bar with links: "My Home" (in white), "Libraries" (underlined in red), "Serve", "News", and "About Us". The main content area has a dark background with several sections. One section is titled "Scriptures" with a sub-section "General Conference". Another section is titled "Gospel Library". To the right, there are three more sections: "Media Library", "Music Library", and "Topics and Questions". Each section has a brief description below its title.

My Home Libraries Serve News About Us

After you are there, a little book icon will appear. Upon clicking it, you will be redirected to all your notes

While your notes may look different than mine, the “Notebook” tab on the right will be the exact same. Here is where we will make our very own journal for this journey!

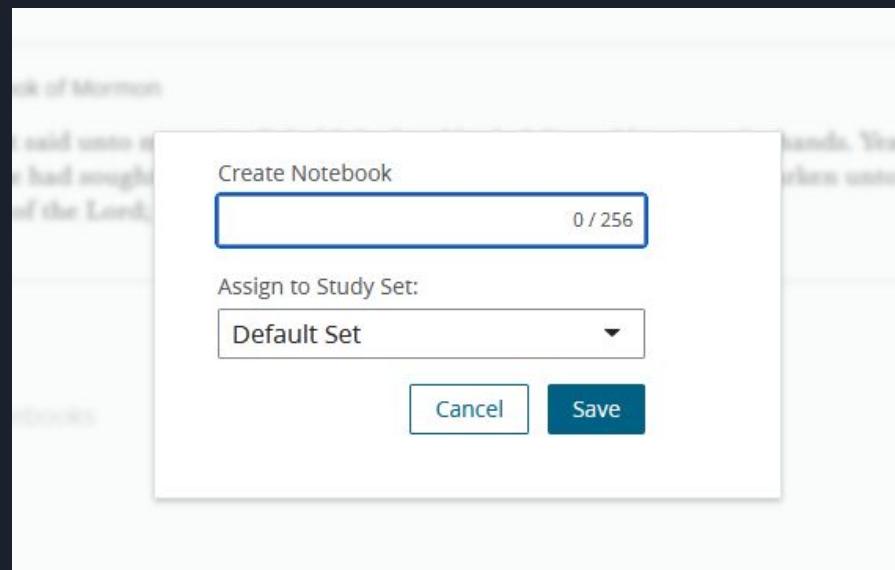

The screenshot shows the Microsoft OneNote application window. On the left, there is a vertical sidebar with four tabs: Notes, Tags, Notebooks (which is currently selected and highlighted in blue), and Study Sets. The main area is titled "Notebooks" and displays two results: "Moroni's Quest (0)" and "Spiritual Thoughts (1)". Each result includes a "Study Set: Default Set" link and a three-dot menu icon. At the top of the main area, there are buttons for "Create Notebook", "Filters", and "Download", along with a search bar labeled "Search Notebooks".

Notebook Name	Count	Study Set	More Options
Moroni's Quest	(0)	Study Set: Default Set	...
Spiritual Thoughts	(1)	Study Set: Default Set	...

Once here, all you need to do is create your very own journal by clicking the “Create Notebook” and titling it something to remember! I chose “Moroni’s Quest” but you can choose any title.

The screenshot shows the 'Notebooks' section of a digital application. On the left is a vertical sidebar with icons for Notes, Tags, Notebooks (which is selected and highlighted in blue), and Study Sets. The main area has a header 'Notebooks' with a 'Create Notebook' button (circled in red), 'Filters', and 'Download' options. Below is a search bar 'Search Notebooks' with a magnifying glass icon. The results section shows '2 Results': 'Moroni's Quest (0)' under 'Study Set: Default Set' and 'Spiritual Thoughts (1)' under 'Study Set: Default Set'. Each result has a three-dot menu icon to its right.

The screenshot shows a 'Create Notebook' dialog box. It contains a text input field for the notebook title ('0 / 256'), a dropdown for 'Assign to Study Set' ('Default Set'), and two buttons at the bottom: 'Cancel' and 'Save'.

Now, on your phone it is actually easier. It requires a whole two steps. After having logged into an account in the app, go to the home screen (the house icon at the bottom). Once there, scroll down until you see “Study Tools” and tap on “Notebooks”. Once there you can create your notebook and get started!
